3. (Original) The method according to claim 1, further comprising: determining if the profile distinction associated with the third party is already present in the profile; establishing the profile distinction associated with the third party if the profile distinction is not already present in the profile; and aggregating the information associated with the transaction in the profile distinction associated with the third party if the profile distinction is already present in the profile.

4. through 9 (Cancelled)

10. (New) A method for generating, in a computerized transaction system maintaining a computerized database system, a profile distinction associated with a transaction between a user and a merchant, the method comprising:

initiating a computerized transaction with the user by the merchant for a subject using the computerized transaction system; receiving, by the computerized transaction system, from the user an indication of whether the subject of the computerized transaction is intended for use by the user or by a third party; distinguishing in the computerized database system between the subject of computerized transactions by the user that is intended for use by the user and the subject of computerized transactions by the user that is intended for use by the third party; and presenting an offer to the user based upon the information in the user profile regarding the subject of computerized transactions by the user that is intended for use by the user.

11. (New) The method of claim 10 wherein the presenting the offer to the user is not based upon the information in the user profile regarding the subject of computerized transactions by the user that is intended for use by the third party.
